

A large grid of binary code consisting of '0's and '1's. The pattern is a repeating sequence of vertical columns, where each column contains a specific sequence of binary digits. The sequence starts with a column of '1's, followed by a column of '0's, then a column of '1's, and so on. This pattern repeats across all 1000 columns of the grid.